
Apple vale mais de 100 bilhões de dolares!

Postado por Nikon - 2007/05/30 19:59

Saiu no MacRumors:

Apple, Inc's worth climbed to above $100 billion today in heavy trading. The company is now worth approximately double rival computer maker Dell's market cap ($59.4 billion), but still trails behemoth Microsoft by a hefty margin, whose worth sits at $294.94 billion.

Note that Dell does not compete in as many areas as Apple, and Microsoft competes in more, which helps explain some of the disparity.

AppleInsider attributes part of the surge of Apple's stock price to recent bullish forecasts by some financial analysts, who have raised the 'BUY' price of Apple's stock to $150. Perhaps also contributing to the surge were announcements today of iTunes 7.2 with DRM-free songs.

Nossa, o valor de mercado dela atualmente é o dobro da Dell, mas o valor de 294.94 da Microsoft é fora do normal!!!

=====

Re:Apple vale mais de 100 bilhões de dolares!

Postado por egtorres - 2007/06/04 06:09

Well, natural que a empresa do homem mais rico do mundo tenha um valor astronômico! :P

Mas fico muito feliz em ver que a Apple já vale o dobro da Dell. Aquela mesma, cujo presidente afirmou a uns anos atrás que, se fosse o Steve Jobs, vendia a empresa e saía de fininho do mercado... B) :whistle: :lol:

=====