Back at WWDC one of the most surprising things was the emphasis on gaming. Well apparently Uncle Steve and Co. were serious as Epic has confirmed that the Xbox 360 mega-hit Gears of War as well as the highly anticipated Unreal Tournament 3 are both coming to the Mac. On a video at Gametrailers.com, Epic VP Mark Rein reveals the news. As the resident 360 maven let me assure you that getting Gears on the Mac should make a lot of Mac gamers happy. There's no word on timing, but with announcements like this there's reason to hope that the future of gaming on Intel Macs looks bright.

eu vi essa no macrumors.. show de bola, sou game-maníaco e estou esperando títulos que estão por vir, agora da pra ir se desprendendo do windows de vez...

Gears Of War

UT3

Starcraft II

NFS

e o novo engine da id que promete

and much more..

:woohoo:
